Kathy Wills

Kathy thanked the board for reaching 100% in board dues fulfillment for fiscal year 2018/19 and thanked Suzanne Diamond for being the first to send in her board dues for the 2019/20 fiscal year. Kathy thanked Mary Fedewa for S|T|O|R|E Capital’s sponsorship of Flamenco Intimo. Kathy requested everyone chose their top five activities from the list of 30, noting that the development committee will follow up with action plans for each. There will be a discussion at the September board meeting about fundraising and advocacy.

5. Finance Committee Report

Jeff Beyersdorfer for Mike Miller

Jeff reported a total cash loss of $771k in FY19 with a total cash loss of $1M over FY17/18 and 18/19 combined. Jeff reported that we will need to borrow against line of credit, however it will not be any more than $60k. The line of credit totals $500k. Expenses have been trimmed and revenue is conservative. FY20 budget reflects a $157k surplus. The Finance Committee has requested an additional $250k contingency plan for a total potential savings of $400k.

Director of Finance, Scott McDaniel reported that he and his team are wrapping up current fiscal year. Public Art lines were moved up to operating revenue and expenses and remains budget neutral. Canal convergence funding from the Tourism Development Commission was reduced from $900k to $750k as planned. Expenses for Canal November 2019 are reduced and marketing will be handled internally, reducing related expenses.

Vicki Smith (on the phone) thanked Scott and Victoria for being constant pen pals, answering all her questions. Vicki noted that she would be voting against the budget as a cautionary warning commenting that we lost a great deal of money and the budget is “quite incorrect”; contributed and net for performances are not in line with previous years; and we’ve had a contingency plan before which was never followed up on, enforced, or acted upon. The board and finance committee were told about a large amount of grants that were supposed to come in in March, then in April, then in May – none of which have come in. Vicki noted that this is a cautionary tale that the investigation into the budget was not robust or deep enough for her to vote yes.

Jeff noted the greater sense of urgency this year than ever before and the need to get back to spending within means. JP Millon questioned the degree of confidence in earned and contributed revenue goals. Gerd responded that there was much more in depth discussion internally, and an extensive financial analysis showed 12 years of escalating payroll costs, noting that we are correcting the course, further noting that last year, contributed revenue was falsely projected and our revenue stream never supported the increased staffing. We are right-sizing portions of the business and working on capacity building grants.

Christian Serena noted that during the transitions in development, there was very little activity without a director in place and that with Darcy and a team in place, we should be able to make up ground with board participation in fundraising efforts.

Tim Baughman questioned if the Finance Committee was recommending the budget. Jeff responded affirmatively.

A motion was made by Alison Lewis, and seconded by Bruce Beverly, to approve the FY20 budget as presented. Motion passed with one Nay.
6. Community Arts Grant

Chris Irish

Chris gave a brief description of the Community Arts Grant eligibility requirements and process; thanked Executive Assistant, Cassandra Buruato for administering the program; thanked Sue Hasenstein for co-chairing and Felice Appell for joining the panel, noting there were nine panelist this year – the most since Chris took over as chair.
